The Immaculate Virgin Mother of God loves us and invites us to lose ourselves in love of her love. Consecrated virginity in the modern world makes more sense than ever because the intensity of the technological and material age can also inspire us to learn how much we need to lose as we gain deeper experiences of divine and maternal love. Those contemplating consecrated virginity or those simply seeking to know Mary will find stimulating comfort in these pages.

Most Reverend William Patrick Callahan, OFM Conv. Bishop of La Crosse, WI
"Barbara writes of the link between Mary and the consecrated virgin: it is real; it must deepen. Blessed be that virgin who imitates the "Virgin of virgins."

Msgr. Charles M. Mangan
Office of the Marian Apostolate,
Diocese Sioux Falls, South Dakota

...Barb's skillful integration of portions of the Rite of Consecration accompanied by her own meditations are a treasure for the consecrated virgin who seeks to embrace fully the directive to "imitate the Mother of God." Meditations on Mary inspires a depth and richness as she ponders these things in her heart.

Molly McCarrick,
consecrated virgin, Diocese of Columbus, Ohio
